By WASH FAYETTE

I never could understand why anyone would take the trouble to write a letter and then either refuse or neglect to sign it . . . one of those letters has just come to my desk . . . and for the life of me, I can't figure out why the sender would type far up in the right hand corner a meaningless "Anon" . . . the letter, however, wasn't exactly a letter . . . it was a poem entitled, "I Am an American" . . . certainly that is nothing to be ashamed of . . . I'm proud to say it . . . would like to shout it out loud and would like to sign my name to such a statement every chance I got . . . and the poem's real good . . . certainly a fine sentiment . . . and while it's old stuff for most folks to wax eloquent over being an American, I believe the verse is original . . . at least I don't recall ever reading it before . . . well, anyway, I guess I can break a rule and print it . . . even if it was not signed . . . the sentiment is there . . . so here it is:

I AM AN AMERICAN
I'm glad I am an American
And live in the U. S. A.
Where men are free and liberty
Has not become passe;
Where Uncle Sam gives every man
The right to be a king;
Where every home is home, sweet home,
And gospel bells still ring.

I'm glad I am an American,
For in all the wide, wide earth,
There is no land as fine and grand
As the land that gave me birth;
I love it, love it, love it . . .
And if the need shall be,
I'll give my all at freedom's call,
To keep my country free.

A poem entitled simply "United States" has been written by Jackie Miltstead, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sollars of Jeffersonville . . . Jackie is only 10 years old and is in the fifth grade at school . . . and his poem shows what American boys and girls are thinking about . . . It's a contrast to the thoughts of the boys and girls in Germany. . . Here's his poem . . . it really needs no further recommendation:

United States
The United States is brave and true,
And so are our boys over the blue.
The little men who we call Japs,
Who the boys across call little saps.

America is as great as the silent breeze,
So show that you can lick the Japanese.
And show Mussolini, the big giraffe,
And the bloody throngs of Hitler's staff.

Germans fight and Germans die,
And all Hitler does is cry.
Mussolini is bloody and Hitler, too—
You and I know that this is true.

Folks, let's give all that we have got,
So the U. S. A. will come out on top.
We did it once before, and we can do it again,
For our country is made of God loving men.

—John Charles Miltstead.
Alfred Creamer came into the office yesterday and gave me a slab of wood sawed from a 10 inch elm tree, showing a limestone pebble nearly an inch in diameter embedded near the center, which the saw had cut in two.

Close examination of the section of tree showed that the pebble apparently had been tossed into a small opening in the tree, and the opening had closed over with the passing years, until the stone was completely surrounded by several inches of wood.

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—The long Japanese delay in reporting the names of American prisoners taken in the early stages of the war suggested today that months may elapse before those captured or killed in the Philippines will be known.

Many who fell in the heroic defense of Corregidor and Bataan may be permanently listed as missing.

For weeks the War Department has been obliged to respond to thousands of inquiries from families of officers and men by saying that no information was available.

Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson said "this anxiety is easy to understand" and assured that any information as to casualties or prisoners would be tele-

Allies Face New Crisis in Burma as Invaders
Drive Ahead

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, May 8.—The prospect of a swift clean up of Vichy-ordered resistance in Madagascar and the arrival of strong imperial reinforcements in strategic Ceylon put the United Nations in a better position today for a rapidly nearing test with the Japanese on the Indian Ocean supply lanes to India, China and the Soviet Union.

As weary British land forces in western Burma held back the invaders, already close to the Bengal border, long-range United States bombers lashed out anew this morning at Rangoon, Japanese-won stepping stone for the westward drive.

Major General Lewis H. Brereton's big warbirds plunged through Japanese fighter plane opposition for their eighth attack on the port and returned safely to their bases in India, a New Delhi communique reported.

It was the Americans' third attack on Rangoon in four days. British military quarters, meanwhile, conceded that the Japanese probably had won another base for operations in the Indian Ocean the west Burma port of Akyab 360 miles from Calcutta.

Other major developments in the world-wide picture included: Japanese—a Reuters (British New Agency) dispatch from

'Committee of Neighbors'
To Be Backbone of Plan
To Watch Price Ceiling

By JAMES MARLOW and WILLIAM PINKERTON

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—"Committees of neighbors" will be the key men in the drive to "hold the cost of living line" at home. The people of your home town who sit on the local War Price and Rationing Board will be, in a sense, your buffer against bureaucracy; they also will be your guarantee against favoritism or corruption in the management

Both Leon Henderson and Bernard Baruch, who first proposed the universal price ceilings out of his experience as chairman of the War Industries Board of World War One, lay great stress on these "committees of neighbors" in the price set-up.

They are part of a broad effort in Washington to reconcile the necessity for government controls with the need for keeping government close to the people. They have counterparts in the local Selective Service Boards and in the local farmers' committees under the soil-conservation programs.

In rationing such scarce goods as automobiles and tires, the local board has the grave responsibility of saying whose service to the community most warrants his having a car and tires.

In the field of price control, they will serve mainly to help local merchants with their reporting problems. But they also will hear complaints of citizens

Torpedo Boat Demon
Comes Home-Confident
Yanks Can Lick Japs

NEW YORK, May 8.—(AP)—Lieut. John D. Bulkeley, whose torpedo boat exploit in the Philippines etched some of the brightest pages in recent naval history, came home from the war today and opined that "with a couple of hundred torpedo boats we could sweep the Japs from the sea."

Waiting for Bulkeley at the airport was his wife, "the happiest woman in the world," and waiting at his home in Long Island was John Duncan Bulkeley, Jr., whom his father had never seen—the child was born April 3—and Joan, 19 months old.

With Lieut. Bulkeley on the trip from the Pacific coast were Lieut. Robert Kelley of New York City, and Ensign Robert E. Cox, Watertown, N. Y., fellow-officers who have shared Bulkeley's adventures in Philippine waters.

Lieut. Bulkeley piloted the torpedo boat on which General Douglas MacArthur left Corregidor for a rendezvous with a bomber which eventually landed the general and his party in Australia.

Lieut. Bulkeley said that generally the Americans were outnumbered about 10 to one by the Japanese whom he described as "very brave, very courageous and very pugnacious fighters who will fight until they are wounded or dead."

"But we can still lick them," he added. "Generally speaking, we can handle them at odds of five to one against us and as soon as our manpower is on a one-to-one basis, it will be a steamroller."

Lieut. Bulkeley said he had a 10 day furlough and would spend most of it with his family. He said he expected to go to Washington soon and probably would be assigned later to the torpedo boat training center at Newport, R. I.

Mrs. Bulkeley admitted that she almost fainted from joy when she received the news her husband was safe in San Francisco.

198 JAP SHIPS
SUNK TO DATE;
35 LOST BY U. S.

Eventual Allied Victory
And Superiority Seen
By Naval Experts

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—United States forces were credited today with a smashing initial blow against Japanese ship concentrations menacing the Australian area in a widespread naval and air battle now under way.

Eight Japanese ships were sunk, four were damaged and six enemy planes were destroyed in the first encounter Monday of a series apparently broadening into continuous engagement.

Aside from the immediate outcome of the Southern Pacific battle, Monday's American victory in the Solomon area again pointed the course of eventual Allied superiority in naval warfare of attrition. Counting sinkings Monday and today, the Japanese now have lost 198 warships sunk to 35 lost by the United States.

The tabulation, based on official announcements by the United Nations and Japanese official admissions:

	U. S.	Japs
Battleships	2	1
Aircraft Carriers	0	1
Cruisers	1	15
Light Cruisers	0	2
Destroyers	8	25
Destroyer Leaders	0	1
Sub Chasers	0	1
Minesweepers	6	13
Gunboats	5	6
Patrol Boats	0	4
Oilers	2	4
Transports	2	76
Supply Ships	0	7
Submarines	3	19
Auxiliaries	2	2
Sea-going Tugs	1	1
Launches	0	3
Sloops	0	1
Barges	0	2
Miscellaneous	3	14
	35	198

In the immediate drive southward, however, the Japanese have the advantage of a sealane from Shimonoseki to New Guinea within easy range of their shore-based planes. Fall of Corregidor gave them the use of Manila Bay, and unofficial enemy reports indicated they were using every means of cleaning up scattered resistance in the Philippines.

Allied Fleet Opens Fire on Jap Warships in Gigantic Clash in Coral Sea To Keep Supply Line from America Open to Forces in Far East

By ROGER D. GREENE

Allied and Japanese warships fought to the death today in a mammoth five-day battle in the Coral Sea, northeast of Australia, in which American, British and Australian gunners have already sunk or crippled at least 13 enemy warships.

United Nations headquarters announced that nine Japanese warships were sunk, including an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, two destroyers and four gunboats.

Four other enemy warships and three non-combat vessels were damaged.

The fateful struggle, still raging, appeared by all accounts to be the greatest naval battle of the new World War.

It was also the biggest naval engagement in all American history, and perhaps rivaled in magnitude the historic battle of Jutland, on May 31, 1916, between the British and German grand fleets.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters claimed a total of five United Nations warships, including the sinking of a U. S. battleship of the 32-600-ton California class, the 33,000-ton U. S. aircraft carrier Saratoga and the 19,900-ton U. S. aircraft carrier Yorktown.

In addition, Tokyo asserted, a British battleship of the 30,600-ton Warspite type was heavily damaged, perhaps sunk, and an Australian cruiser of the 10,000-ton Canberra type was damaged and may have gone down.

BRITISH DENY JAP CLAIM OF WARSHIP SUNK

In London, the Admiralty quickly denied that the Warspite or any other British battleship had been sunk or damaged in the Coral Sea.

On the basis of the Japanese claim—which completely lacked confirmation from any Allied source—it appeared that at least a section of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's main Pacific fleet, stationed at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, was engaged in the battle.

If so, this was the first news that the United States' great Pacific squadron had set out to challenge the Japanese fleet.

London naval observers declared today that from the information at hand the battle off Australia apparently resulted from interception of a Japanese invasion convoy bound from Rabaul or the Solomon Islands south to the New Hebrides or New Caledonia.

One source expressed belief that the present battle represented a final judgment and much deliberation on both sides.

"The Japanese recently have been building up naval strength at Rabaul," he said. "There is no doubt that the Allied command, with daily reconnaissance reports at hand, anticipated the Japanese strength and move."

"It can be assumed that, demonstrating a first-class offensive spirit, the Americans have tried to intercept and destroy a Japanese invasion convoy."

"The Japanese intention appears to be to invade the New Hebrides or New Caledonia or both to encircle Australia farther on the east and cut American supply lines."

Battle Probably Started Monday by U. S. Warplanes

"The action that started Monday probably began with aircraft from American carriers operating southwest of the Solomons."

"It appears that the attacks did not stop the Japanese, who, with a powerful fleet, including battleships as well as aircraft carriers and cruisers, were able to push on toward their objective."

"The bulk of the two fleets then joined battle."

Another source said, "This sort of game is indicative of the fiercest type of naval action," and said it was evident that it was the biggest sea battle since Jutland 26 years ago.

The running battle apparently started Monday off the Solomon Islands and swept westward to the Coral Sea, flaming across hundreds of miles of the South Pacific.

First reports indicated it far exceeded in scope and importance the great battle of the Java Sea, two months ago, in which Japanese successes paved the way for the conquest of Java.

All Australia waited tensely for news to be flashed on the outcome, realizing that the fate of the commonwealth may hinge on Allied victory or defeat.

Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin declared gravely that the action was of crucial importance to the whole conduct of the war in the Far Pacific zone commanded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"Nobody can tell what the result of the engagement will be at this moment," Curtin said, and left a clear implication that an Allied defeat might well lead to a Japanese invasion of Australia.

United Nations communiques declared a Japanese aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats, a transport and a supply ship were sunk.

Another Japanese aircraft carrier was described as so badly hit that she was a total loss, and heavy damage was inflicted on a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser, a 9,000-ton seaplane tender and a cargo ship.

Ohio's 37th Division Boys Rarin' To Go
Against Enemy---A Bit Too Reckless

WITH THE 37TH DIVISION,

May 8.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commanding officer of Ohio's 37th Division, described his men today as a "little reckless because they're rarin' to go."

He said the outfit was better trained than any first World War division when it went overseas. "Every one of our soldiers knows his weapons," Beightler asserted, "and how is a well-trained veteran in the use of them. The boys have a fine appearance, are well trained but a little reckless because they're rarin' to go."

After 18 months of training the men have become hardened troops with "magnificent" morale and excellent health, he declared they react very well, "he continued. "Each man thinks his company is best, his regiment is finest, and he would rather be with the Ohio Division than any other."

Beightler explained that "our boys will have to learn from experience, too. We realize we are up against formidable opponents. The Japs for example had China for a proving ground, thus giving them an advantage. But we think we know their methods, we have studied their engagements, and we have taught our boys how to cope with both German and Jap tactics."

One of the soldiers summed up the 37th's attitude:

"You can tell America the Ohio boys are ready. Let's go."

ONLY 101 FAIL TO REGISTER IN WASHINGTON C. H.

Villages and Rural Areas of County Are Not So Thorough, However

Only 101 residents of Washington C. H. failed to register for the War Ration Books during the past four days, the figures compiled by Ralph R. Penn, the county's rationing administrator, showed Friday.

Penn was elated over the thoroughness of the city registration and gave credit to the "wonderful cooperation by the Record-Herald in keeping the people informed on this important wartime obligation."

In the rural sections and villages of the county, the registration was not so complete, but the administrator was nevertheless "more than satisfied," and expressed the belief that the registration in the county as a whole was "much, much better than the state average." In the county and the villages, 1,531 failed to register.

Here are the registration figures:

County population, 21,365; total registered, 19,713.

The county has a population of 21,365 and 19,713 registered. In the county exclusive of Washington C. H. the population is 11,963 and of these 10,412 registered. The population of Washington C. H. is 9,402 and 9,301 of them registered.

The registration machinery was running so smoothly at the end of the four-day registration period that there was hardly a minute's wait for anyone after that first hectic day last Monday. Additional registrars solved the problem during the last three days, Penn said as he complimented Superintendent A. B. Murray for dealing with the situation promptly when the congestion developed.

How many in the city and county had what was termed an "excess" of sugar in their homes is not accurately known. Under the law, only two pounds per person were permissible. If the amount aggregated more than that much through June, no ration book was issued.

Of the total of 19,713 registered in the entire county, 1,022 were denied ration books. Of these 436 lived in the city and 586 in the rest of the county. Whether those who failed to register stayed away because they had sugar "hoards" or just neglected to go to one of the schools to sign has not yet been determined, Penn said.

The registration in the rural sections and villages under the supervision of Superintendent W. J. Hilly of the county schools encountered practically no difficulties.

Penn had only the highest praise for the supervisors and registrars.

IN THE STATE

COLUMBUS, May 8—(P)—Nearly 2,000,000 Ohioans failed to register for sugar rationing which ended officially yesterday but continued today in communities unable to complete signing of householders in the four-day period, Harry J. Patterson, state sugar rationing administrator, reported today.

He estimated that 5,300,000 of the state's 7,500,000 residents had received sugar books and termed "unpatriotic" the failure of others to "declare their sugar and place themselves under rationing with their neighbors."

Patterson asserted that registration figures indicated more residents had stocks of sugar on hand than had been supposed previously.

SOLDIER HELD FOR OFFICIALS AT NEW ORLEANS

Forgery and Absent from Military Post Without Leave Are Charged

John Spurlock, member of Company M, whose parents reside near Selden and his wife at New Vienna, is in the Fayette County jail in response to a telegram received from the chief of detectives of New Orleans to arrest and hold him for forgery and being absent without leave from military duty at New Orleans.

Spurlock was arrested in Leesburg late Thursday, by Marshal Swift, who had been asked to arrest Spurlock if he appeared at the home of a sister there.

Spurlock had been at the home of his parents near Selden, but was absent when Sheriff W. H. Icenhower went there to arrest him. Spurlock passed the house, saw the sheriff's car, and drove hurriedly on.

Knowing that he had a wife at New Vienna and a sister at Leesburg, Sheriff Icenhower asked officers there to be on the lookout for Spurlock and his arrest followed sometime later.

Whether he will be turned over to Fort Hayes officials for being absent without leave, or held for the New Orleans authorities on a forgery charge, has not been determined.

ALLIES STRENGTHENED BY BRITISH OCCUPATION OF MADAGASCAR ISLAND

Chungking reported that the Japanese were rushing troops into Manchukuo and were preparing to attack Russian Siberia some time next month.

India—With the battle of Burma virtually ended, London disclosed that British reinforcements have landed on the island of Ceylon, off the tip of invasion—threatened India.

British military quarters said the troops were "seasoned fighters," veterans of the 1940-41 Ethiopian campaigns.

Burma—Imperial Tokyo headquarters reported that Japanese troops had now advanced 50 miles into China proper, capturing the town of Lungling.

Other Japanese columns were reported to have captured Bhamo, 180 miles north of Mandalay.

Russian campaign—Adolf Hitler's headquarters acknowledged that the Red armies were striking heavily against German lines in the Ukraine, on the Staraya Russa front 130 miles south of Leningrad, and along the Volkhov River about 60 miles below Leningrad.

losses announced late yesterday in a Washington communiqué covering the opening phases of the battle Monday off the Solomon Islands, in which United States forces sank eight Japanese ships with the loss of but three planes.

A Tokyo communiqué said that five United Nations warships were sunk or damaged May 6, 7 and today.

Gen. MacArthur's department, reporting spectacular American successes in the second phase of the battle, presumably after it reached the Coral Sea yesterday, announced:

"Heavy naval and air fighting continues.

"Our own losses are not reported."

In the latest stages, Allied warships were officially credited with sinking a Japanese aircraft carrier and a heavy cruiser and badly damaging another aircraft carrier and a heavy cruiser.

While the Allies appeared to have won a decisive edge so far, the Japanese navy office claimed its navy had scored "brilliant achievements in the Coral Sea east of Australia on an Anglo-American combined fleet."

earlier action off the Solomon Islands.

"This battle will not decide the war," Prime Minister Curtin said. But, he added, "It will determine immediate tactics which will be pushed by ourselves and the common enemy."

"Invasion is a menace capable hourly of becoming an actuality," Betokened a Japanese attempt to cut Australia's vital supply lines by smashing the Allied fleet, or whether it was the prelude to a new invasion thrust—aim at Port Moresby, strategic Allied outpost in Southern New Guinea, or perhaps the East Australian coast.

The first official intimation that the Japanese were on the move along the sea approaches to Australia was given in a communiqué yesterday which reported that Allied bombers had sunk a Japanese transport in the Louisiade Archipelago off the southeast tip of New Guinea.

The Louisiade Islands are on the route which the Japanese would have to follow in launching a seaborne assault on either Port Moresby or Australia from their bases in northeastern New Guinea and New Britain—less than a day's journey to the north by ship.

A convoy could stream from the Louisiades to Port Moresby in another day or less.

Australian leaders repeatedly have warned of the imminent danger of invasion, despite growing Allied air strength and continued bombing attacks on Japanese bases.

FIREMEN RESPOND TO PAIR OF ALARMS

Firemen were called by two fire alarms Thursday afternoon.

The first was at the Lang Concord home on East Paint Street, where neighbors had seen smoke from a burning flue and believed the house to be on fire. No damage.

The second alarm was a Ford automobile on North Main Street in which a short circuit had developed. The fire was extinguished with some $15 or $20 damage resulting.

ROB'T. S. HARPER IS PROMOTED TO M. E. OF JOURNAL

Journalistic Career Begun Here in 1919 Leads to Responsible Position

Robert S. Harper, who began his newspaper career in Washington C. H. with the old Herald, today is the new managing editor of the Ohio State Journal in Columbus.

He succeeds Kenneth D. Tooill who resigned to go into other fields of journalism in New York. Oddly, both Harper and Tooill lived in Jeffersonville when they were little boys.

Harper was born in a small tenant house on a farm in northern Fayette County, but came to Washington C. H. with his parents while a child. Here he lived until 1924 when he went to Columbus to accept a position on the Columbus Dispatch. He went through the Washington C. H. elementary and high schools and then started to work as a "cub reporter" on the old Herald in 1919. He served as a private in World War No. 1.

Harper went to New York where he worked on The World and The Evening Post after a few years on the Dispatch. However, he came back to Columbus and has been identified with the Ohio State Journal for the past 15 years. He held positions of telegraph editor, city editor and news editor before he was elevated to the post of managing editor at the age of 42 years.

JEFFERSONVILLE IN WHIRL OF SCHOOL EVENTS

Commencement Week Begins
With Class Play and Ends
With Alumni Banquet

Jeffersonville and the surrounding community swung into the commencement season—one of the most important times of all the year—Thursday with the first night's presentation of the Senior Class Play, "Spring Fever," in the high school auditorium. It will be given again Friday night.

Then for the next eight days, the 27 young men and women who will be given their diplomas on the night of May 15, will be riding a wave of excitement and round of parties, the like of which they never rode before and never will again.

The Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday evening in the Methodist Church with Rev. E. R. Rector delivering the traditional sermon. Martha Straley is to play the prelude and the high school choir will sing the national anthem as the processional in harmony with the patriotic spirit of wartime. Rev. Rector has announced "A Pillar or a Well," as the theme of his sermon.

Class night comes on Tuesday in the high school auditorium. Bill Sharrett is to be the master of ceremonies and Edward Robinson will deliver the salutary. The class history has been compiled by Mabel Moomaw and Anna-belle McDonald and is to be read by them. An accordion solo by Emma Lou Straley will be followed by the reading of the class poem by Beulah Sears. Virginia Milleson and Eileen Combs are to play a clarinet duet and then a dramatic sketch, "It Happened to Sweeney," will be presented by Mary Jane Bradley, Ileen Snyder, Max Detty, Phyllis Gray, Robert Flax and Bill Sharrett. Virginia Schwartz will read the class will and Raymond Allen is to make the class prophecy. The class is then to sing its song, written by Virginia Milleson and Eileen Combs will deliver the valedictory.

The commencement exercises are to be held in the auditorium Friday, starting at 8:15 P. M. with a march, "Flag of Freedom," by the high school band. The band also will play the processional. The commencement address is to be delivered by Dr. L. A. Pechstein, dean of the University of Cincinnati.

The diplomas are to be presented by M. S. Bagby, the superintendent of the Jeffersonville schools.

Rev. Rector will deliver the invocation and benediction.

The class motto is: "Today We Follow; Tomorrow We Lead." The class colors are French blue and Chinese pink and the class flower is the tea rose.

Raymond Allen is president of the class. The other officers are: Joseph Fisher, vice president; Beulah Sears, secretary; Bill Sharrett, treasurer; Mary Alice Upp, hostess and Benjamin Ken-nison, host. Other members of the class are Paul Avey, Mary Jane Bradley, Eileen Combs, Carl Creamer, Max Detty, Robert Flax, Worley Flint, Phyllis Gray, Ileen Snyder, Arthur Tyree, Altha Tyree, Sara Frances Hidy, Wayne Long, Annabelle McDonald, Virginia Milleson, Mabel Moomaw, Edward Robinson, Mar-lon Sanderson, Virginia Schwartz, Emma Lou Straley, Jo Ann Vannorsdall.

Members of the high school faculty with Supt. Bagby are Ralph Crock, Lucille Bates, Isabel Beaver, Jean Porter, Hillis H. Hall, Leon T. Heinlein, Ruby Lee Holden, Louise Kelly, El-felda Seelbach and Pauline Thomas.

The annual alumni banquet is to be held in the high school gymnasium at 8:30 P. M. Satur-day.

Our boys at the front need a steady flow of supplies. You can assure this by systematic purchase of U.S. Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Where Are Your Plates

If you are wondering where your plates are that once re-posed in the garage, do not worry about them any longer. They are going for a good cause.

"Slap the Japs" was the slogan for the managers of the Isaly Dairy Company when they were asked to collect license plates for national defense. For every set of plates brought to Isaly's the person received a Klondike Bar.

In the picture, there are over 22,000 plates. The pile is six feet high, 25 feet long and 12 feet wide.

Some plates date back as far as 1911. Some came from Oregon, Maine, Florida, Texas and Oklahoma.

UTILIZING THE SLOGAN "Slap the Japs," Isaly Dairy Stores collected nine tons of tin, in discarded automo-bile plates, in a week's drive in which ice cream bars were exchanged for every set of tags brought in. The plates will be contributed to the American Red Cross for the war effort.

No doubt there are many Fayette County plates among those shown above, as the local Isaly Store collected a large number of them in their recent "Slap the Japs" campaign.

FAYETTE COUNTY'S QUOTA

Sleep . . . not more than an hour or two out of every 24, and often that by snatches.

Food . . . Half-rations this month, quarter-rations next . . .

Water . . . where we find it.

Medical care . . . we stand OR LIE in line for it . . . in the open.

BUT WAIT! THAT WAS THE QUOTA ON BATAAN!

HERE IS THE QUOTA FOR FAYETTE COUNTY:

We are asked to raise $38,500 during the month of May. We are not asked to give this amount. We are asked to invest this amount at interest, with a provision that we can get it back when we have to, with a "moneyback" guarantee from the strongest government in the world.

Why are we asked to raise this money?

The money is needed to buy tools for the boys in the front line whose equipment, guns, ships, planes and gear means their very life, our security and future. The money is needed to keep our economic system and our dollar sound.

If we GAVE ALL our money for this cause we would not be doing much . . . but we are only asked to lend part of our money! Ten percent of our income is considered a fair investment for each of us.

A bomber costs $250,000 . . . a tank costs $40,000 . . . a "75" gun costs $10,000. That's big money but we've got that kind of money in this county . . . Let's help!

DAIRY MONTH IS COMING

June, the National Dairy Month will be observed throughout the nation. And again, as in the past, much of the work that is necessary to make Dairy Month the success it deserves to be, will be carried on by American retailers.

Both independent stores and chain stores will participate. They will promote Dairy Month in their newspaper advertising, through window displays and store placards. They will encourage increased use of milk, both as a drink and in cooking. And this work will not be limited to stores which sell milk and operate restaurants. For instance, the leading department store, variety and merchandise chains will also cooperate. Many of them do not deal in milk—but they too will display promotional posters, and feature milk in advertising.

The significance of Dairy Month is two fold. First, milk is produced in every state. Tens of thousands of farm families depend upon it for all or part of their livelihood. Increased consumption of milk and milk products means better times on the farm—and better times in urban communities which depend on the farm market.

STILLWATER, Okla.—(P)—The rubber situation being what it is, Jim deGruchy equipped himself with materials for repairing tires, including a flashlight for night work. One night the thump, thump, thump of a rear tire told him the time was at hand to put his kit to work. He jerked off the casing, applied a patch to the tube and pumped it up. Back in his car, he was surprised shortly thereafter to hear the thump, thump, thump of the same tire. Out got deGruchy, off came the casing. Inside he found what was left of his flashlight.

The Sun Shines Bright

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—(P)—The sun shone very bright here the other day, so bright it started two fires—one in a paint shop, where a barrel of rags behind a plate glass window caught fire; the other in an automobile, where a crystal ball lying on the seat focused the sun's rays.

Second, milk should be a basic part of every diet—child and adult alike. According to authorities on nutrition, milk consumption, on the average, is only about half what it should be. "Drink more milk" is a health slogan, not a sales slogan. War makes it necessary that all work harder and longer—and milk is among the foods we need to give us the added energy. Dairy Month ties in with the recently-announced national nutrition program which is making rapid headway now.

So-drink more milk. Take advantage of the information which will be offered you during Dairy Month. It's designed to safeguard and improve your health.

Study of Causes of Dizziness Gives Sufferers New Hope

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

MENIERE'S disease is a severe form of dizziness or vertigo. Many people write to me about it every week. I am glad, therefore, to announce some good news in a discussion of the subject by Dr. Miles Atkinson of New York. Dr. Atkinson says, very sensibly in my opinion, that the doctors have always been looking for a single cause which suits all cases, when in his experience he has found that Meniere's disease has several causes, two of them being quite definite.

Akin to Allergy

One class of cases is undoubtedly caused by something akin to the state of allergy. The attacks are paroxysmal. Enough cases have now accumulated where the patients have been proved to be sensitive to something such as milk or wheat to allow us to say quite definitely that allergy is the essential factor in these cases. A test which has proved valuable in recognizing this group of cases is the histamine skin test. This has to be applied by a doctor, but the principles of it are simple enough. There is a great deal of evidence to show that with attacks of allergy, such as hay fever, asthma or hives, there is released in the body a substance known as histamine. It is therefore possible to test a patient with Meniere's disease to see whether or not he is sensitive to histamine. A small amount of histamine is injected into the skin and in many instances produces not only a wheal at the local site of injection, but also induces an attack of vertigo. When this has been proved to be true of any patient, he is then put on an elimination diet to see what food substances he is sensitive to. This has proved of great value in treating the allergic group of cases.

Construction of Arteries

There is another larger group of patients with Meniere's disease in which the attacks of vertigo are probably due to constriction of the arteries in the internal ear—in the organ of equilibrium. This second group of patients are likely to be elderly people, at least over 60 years old, and constitute a good deal larger group than the allergic group. There is no reason why the arteries in the organ of equilibrium should not undergo constriction just as much as the arteries of the heart undergo constriction to produce angina pectoris in the same age group of patients. It has been found that treatment directed toward relieving spasm of the arteries will relieve attacks of Meniere's disease, such as the use of amyl nitrite pearls, nitroglycerine and other dilating agents.

More Cheerful View

These investigations give a much more cheerful view to the outlook for the patient with Meniere's disease than has previously been held. Many surgeons have bluntly expressed the view that the only thing to do with Meniere's disease is to perform an operation and cut the auditory nerve, which, although it relieves the attacks of vertigo, leaves the patient deaf. There are, of course, some cases of Meniere's disease which become so severe and continuous as to make this prospect acceptable, but most of them are milder and it is to be hoped that the application of these ideas of groups caused by allergy or vaso-constriction will lead to relief without the employment of such drastic means.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. S.:—What causes cracking of toes, knees and sometimes the jaw when eating? Could this be from a lack of vitamins?

Answer: Some people are subject to these easily dislocated and rough joints. It does not appear to mean anything serious and is certainly not due to a lack of vitamins.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. SYNOPSIS
Three young airline hostesses, TIBBY LANE, sweet and natural; STEENA WINTERS, beautiful and sophisticated; and MARG BAKER, plain, sturdy and direct, share an apartment together in New York, where they are based. A friend of Tibby's, TOMMY DARE, is spending his first year out of medical school at a clinic in Brooklyn. Steena sets her cap for WAYNE COURTRIGHT, wealthy official of the airline.

YESTERDAY: Just as Steena reveals to Tommy that Courtright is teaching her to fly the plane, Tibby and Steena both reach for it.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

WHEN THE phone finally rang, after that interminable period of waiting, and both girls reached for it, it was Tibby who got there first. Steena had reached out an arm, but had not gotten up.

Tibby said, "Yes?" breathlessly, her heart pounding in her ears so that she wondered if she would be able to hear, for now that the moment had come, maybe it WOULD be worse than that waiting. "Yes, this is Tibby." And, at the other end of the wire, as she had known it would be, was Wayne. His voice calm, steady.

"We just got word," he told her. "Sorry I could not call sooner, but we wanted to keep all wires open. The plane is scarcely damaged. Captain Mercer managed to set it right down on a nice ice floe that held up until the rescue ships came. All passengers and all members of the crew are safe."

All safe . . . the relief this brought was so enormous that it left Tibby weak. That meant that Marg was all right, that she would say her funny, pat things again.

"That roommate of yours," there was an amused chuckle over the wire, "it seems she's quite a heroine! But you'll read all about it in the morning papers. Feel better now?" There was a new note in the assured voice, a note almost of tenderness.

"Oh, yes—much better!" Tibby breathed, easily, effortlessly once more. "Thank you so much for calling. It was so good of you to remember, to let me know."

"Did you think I could forget?" There was no doubt as to the tenderness in his tone now. "You should know better than that, my dear."

"I didn't think you would," Tibby protested, the ever-ready color mounting her cheeks. Of course she had not meant anything in calling her that, but she was glad just the same that Steena—and Tommy—could hear only what was said at this end of the line. "I knew how busy you'd be, and it's so late—"

"No matter how busy or how late," his voice was as firm now as it had been gentle, "I don't forget a promise made. In fact, it seems lately—that I don't forget you. You are very much on my mind, young lady, ALL of the time."

If Tibby had been glad before that the other side of this conversation was inaudible, except to her ears, now she was doubly relieved. There was nothing she could say in reply, although she knew she ought to manage something. Of course Courtright did not mean it—not in the way it had sounded—so gravely earnest in spite of a certain light banter. It was just that he, too, was relieved, this awful waiting over.

He said, "Did you hear me? I meant what I just said—though perhaps this is hardly the time to say it. Tibby, are you there—why don't you say something."

"I . . . yes, I'm here," Tibby returned. Maybe Steena and Tommy could hear—the silence in the room behind her gave evidence that they were both listening intently. "It— it is late," although that was not the reason she did not want him to say what he had, "so thank you again—and good night."

She put the receiver down, knowing that now her cheeks were burning. How could she face Tommy and Steena without betraying that something was wrong? Nothing was, really—Marg was safe—that was the important thing. Remembering that—and putting all the rest aside for the time being—she could face them. Besides, no doubt she was laying undue importance on the other things that had been said. She was over-wrought, her nerves taut, her relief still almost too great after the long anxiety.

"Everything's all right," she told Tommy and Steena. "The ship was scarcely damaged. All passengers and the crew rescued. And Marg—so Mr. Courtright said—proved herself quite a heroine. Isn't that wonderful?" Her bright eyes and high color could be accounted for by this marvelous piece of news.

"Very wonderful," Steena's tone was a bit dry, her green eyes slightly narrowed, although she added, more warmly, "I'm really glad about Marg, even if I can't imagine her as a heroine. But tell me," her eyes rested on Tibby's flushed young face, "is that ALL Wayne had to say? Didn't he ask for me?"

"I don't suppose he knew you were home," Tibby began. "At this hour!" Steena's glance went to the clock that now marked the time at a quarter past one. "Even posing for publicity does not last that long, no matter how many retakes there have to be."

"Evidently your boy friend—and I gather he is a special friend of yours, Steena"—Tommy wanted to interrupt this time—"wanted to talk to Tibby. He must have guessed I'd still be here, as I'd hardly leave Tib alone until she got more news, but he didn't ask for me, either. Though he did take quite awhile—as you pointed out—to deliver his brief message." Tommy's tone was mocking, but he had observed Tibby's flushed face and the brightness of her eyes, too.

This was a good way, besides, to pay Tibby back for not telling him about those flying lessons. She knew darned well he would not like it, her learning to fly, which was worse than this hostess angle, although, apparently, what he liked or didn't, made no impression upon her, but rather served an opposite purpose.

In this he was right, as it was because he would not have liked it that Tibby had not told him about the lessons. She guessed now that her not telling had something to do with his taking sides, as it were, with Steena, but Tommy had proved anything but helpful all evening. And after Tibby had given him such a royal welcome, too.

She said coolly, "You needn't have stayed. And since the message has been delivered—which was what we all were waiting for, and it is late, which turned out, fortunately, to be good news, instead of bad, as it so easily might have been, I expect you'd better go." Maybe that was putting it a bit bluntly, but Tibby felt it was deserved. They all should be filled with gratitude for Marg's safety instead of being suspicious and mocking and evasive.

"Oh, I had no intention of keeping you girls up any later, or earlier," Tommy still used his mocking tone, but he got up so quickly it was evident he employed it now to cover his own feelings rather than to try to stir up Tibby's. He guessed he knew when he had been practically insured. "Of course I'm glad about Marg. I'm also glad to have it brought home to you that it might have been serious. That should also point out how ridiculous it is for a girl—who has no real reason, as Steena observed—to take up flying."

Tibby's eyes were dangerously bright now, her color crimson. "Thank you for all the advice," her voice was not cool; it contained icicles. "When I need some more I'll remember to call on you. Good night, Tommy."

"You needn't rush off," Steena protested, gathering her full skirt to rise to accompany Tommy to the door, since Tibby had stalked out of the room. "I don't have to get up in the morning."

"But I do," Tommy said, somewhat grimly. "I think it's nice to know a man who is willing to give advice," Steena smiled up at him from under long lashes. "Women need that masculine shoulder to lean on. Maybe I'll ask for yours sometime should I find I need one."

"It's yours for the asking," Tommy did not look quite so grim, although he knew she was only endeavoring to make up for Tibby. "A man often needs a woman's advice, too, so maybe we can strike a bargain."

"It is a bargain," Steena assured him. She gave him a smile this time to show him how much she meant it. For they might be able to help one another some day in a way neither could foresee.

Substitute for Cork Now Being Sought

By SIGRID ARNE

(Wide World News Service)

SEATTLE—Cork has such a modest way of hiding while it serves its useful purposes that, no doubt, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer haven't started to quake yet about a cork shortage.

But the shortage is here. The cork we use comes from Spain and Portugal. And right now the sea routes to those spots are no picnic. So the cork on hand is being carefully doled out.

It's used to back our linoleum floor coverings. It does a hundred and one insulating jobs, many of them on military equipment. And it stoppers our bottles. It's a unique material for those jobs because it's water resistant, and it "gives."

Manufacturers have been hunting unhappily for a substitute, and now two professors of the University of Washington Forestry faculty offer an answer.

Prof. Bror L. Grondal and Dr. Frederick Wagaard have found a commercially usable cork in the bark of the douglas fir. And the douglas is extremely plentiful in this country.

Grondal says research men always have known the douglas bark had cork, but the trick was to get it out in a form that manufacturers could use.

The cork lies in thin, light-colored layers through the douglas bark. A cross-section looks exactly like a slice of marble cake! The light streaks being the cork.

Grondal and Wagaard set out in January to reclaim the cork. And they set themselves the extra job of doing it with machinery that is already available.

There are three steps to the process. First they grind chunks of the bark in a big meat chopper. That pulverizes most of the bark in a reddish powder. The cork seems to squeeze through because it's more pliable. It comes out in pieces slightly larger than your thumbnail.

Then the mixture of cork and pulverized bark goes through a screening process, and then another pulverizing process in a revolving drum where the last vestiges of bark are pounded off the cork. The result can be pressed into sheets for the insulating jobs.

But it won't make stoppers for bottles.

However, the discovery means that we can keep at home the $6,000,000 or so we spent each year for the Mediterranean cork. And it means new wealth for the Pacific northwest where the biggest stands of douglas fir exist.

Too little; too late; too bad! There is still time to buy U. S. Defense Bonds and Stamps.

HOWARD C. ALLEN RESIGNS AS ONE OF FAIR BOARD

Native Fayette Countian, He Started with Institution
As Messenger in 1892

Howard C. Allen has resigned from the board of directors of the Fayette County Fair.

In a letter to Ray Brandenburg, the president of the board, Allen wrote simply that it was impossible for him to serve longer and asked that his resignation be effective immediately.

What will be done toward filling the vacancy on the 13-man board has not been definitely determined, George L. Gossard, the secretary, said as he expressed regret over the Fair's loss of Allen's services. He added that his resignation had been brought up at the board's last meeting and said that it had been accepted with reluctance by the board.

Howard C. Allen has been one of the keystones in the development not only of the Fair but of the county's agricultural improvement and exploitation endeavors for years—more of them than he, himself, can recall. He is a native Fayette Countian, farm operator, post office clerk and secretary of the Fayette County Automobile Club.

It was back in 1892, that he had his first small part in the production of the Fair. He was a messenger in the secretary's office then. From that time on, he has been a part of the institution known as the Fair. Later on, he said he did not know just when, he was elected to membership on the board of directors and has served in that capacity, through good times and bad, ever since.

He has often said that one of his guiding principals as a director of the Fair was that "without a show you can't sell entertainment." And, he considered the Fair in the light of an entertainment enterprise as well as an educational institution.

Against a background, Howard Allen built up the Art Hall displays, putting emphasis on handicraft, antiques and home decoration, until it was recognized as one of the best among expositions in the smaller counties.

When the Fair here was revived after having lapsed during the depression, Howard Allen undertook to develop a show of saddle and fine harness horses. It was, at that time, somewhat of a new departure for a Fair of this size, but by applying the principal of offering a show to sell for the entertainment, it became one of the best in the state and was ranked by many as on a par with the big show at the Ohio State Fair for quality, sparkle and conduct.

Directors of the Fair are elected each year by members of the Fayette County Agricultural Society, its legal sponsor. Whether the board will appoint a director to fill the vacancy has not been determined.

Church Day Held At Grace Church With Luncheon

One of the most successful church days held in recent months was promoted at Grace M. E. Church, Wednesday, with nearly a full quota of members of the various organizations in attendance.

The meeting opened by singing several hymns, with Mrs. B. E. Kelley at the piano.

Mrs. Allen White conducted very impressive devotionals, her theme "Children." At the close she presented Bobby Gidding, who sang a Mother's Day song, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Stanley Paxson.

Mrs. Mabel Blessing presided over a very interesting business session.

Circle 5, with Miss Edith Gardner, leader, had the luncheon, which was most delicious and thoroughly enjoyed.

The afternoon program was under the direction of the leader, Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee. Mrs. Kenneth's Pope's Sunday School Class of boys and girls presented the first part of the program, which was a violin duet, Wayne and Wilbert Owens, recitation, Ann James, piano solo, Helen Louise Hines, recitation, Rebecca Waters, and a song by Dixie Lee Ellison.

The second part of the program was a most interesting paper prepared and read by Mrs. Allen White, titled "The Children of our Church."

Small Party Includes Guests From Osborne

Mrs. Marguerite Powell entertained with a very pretty small party Friday afternoon, and included a table of guests from Osborn, with a table of ladies of this place.

The ladies were seated at the dining table, exquisitely appointed and centered with an arrangement of tulips and spirea. The three course luncheon was most tempting, and the hour around the table of many pleasures.

Spring flowers added color and fragrance to the lovely living room where the bridge game progressed throughout the afternoon. Attractive prizes were presented to Mrs. Patrick O'Neal, of Osborn and to Mrs. I. L. Pump-hrey.

Coming from Osborn for the afternoon pleasures were Mrs. John Beaver, Mrs. O. B. Arm-brust, Mrs. Patrick O'Neal, and Mrs. William Morris.

Women Urged To Help

The Fayette County Advisory Board is asking for the assistance of 18 Washington C. H. women, to volunteer in helping registrants of the February 16 registration, fill out their questionnaires, and such volunteers are asked to call W. L. O'Brien at the Midland Grocery Company. It is a patriotic service which can be rendered, as all Advisory Board members, like the Selective Service Board members, work without pay.

This will require two or three hours each week for a short time.

Past Councilor's Club

The Past Councilors Club of the D. of A. met at the home of Mrs. Mable Whitmore Tuesday evening for a potluck supper followed by the regular meeting. The spacious home was decorated with spring flowers, and the table was heaped with tempting food. Mrs. Whitmore was assisted by several other hostesses.

Community Mass Meeting

A Community Mass Meeting will be held in the First Presbyterian Church auditorium Sunday at three o'clock to pay tribute to the boys in the service of our country. The Parents of these boys are to be the guests of honor. A most cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

Mr. Van Winkle Guest of Honor At Gay Party

Members of the LaFayette Camera Club entertained with a very delightful party Thursday evening, complimenting a past president, Mr. J. Ervin Van Winkle, who leaves Monday to enter government service as a radio technician.

The affair had been carefully planned, and was one of the cleverest and merriest of evening entertainment.

Receiving a note earlier in the week with "Be on the library steps at seven", and obeying this command, Mr. and Mrs. Van Winkle were picked up by a member, who then motored them to various homes, until finally they arrived at the N. P. Clyburn cottage, near Staunton. A very delicious covered dish supper, of particularly appetizing viands, was more than enjoyed. Causing much hilarity and gaiety, were the numerous clever tricks which had been previously planned on the honor guest.

Games and visiting brought the pleasures to a close, at which time two very handsome gifts were presented to Mr. Van Winkle, in appreciation of his work with the club.

Mrs. Gidding Is Charming Hostess To Bridge Club

Including Mrs. Belford Carpenter as a guest with the members, Mrs. J. Earl Gidding charmingly filled the role of hostess to her bridge club, Thursday, entertaining with a most delightful affair.

The dining table was lovely in its appointments for the two course luncheon, of most delicious seasonal viands. Covered with an exquisite linen cloth, the table was centered with a crystal spray filled with pink tulips.

Pivot bridge was enjoyed in the handsome living room, where numerous bowls of beautiful May flowers were admired for their beauty and fragrance.

When the scores were tallied, high scores were held by Mrs. Colin C. Campbell and Mrs. Paul Strevey.

A PRAYER

O God, make me a little lamp,
And shine through me, through the night;
Shine, and shine so bright,
That folks won't see the lamp
But just the light.
Dear Lord, shine through me each day;
That someone who has gone astray,
May see the light, and find the way;
Shine, and shine so bright,
That they will not see the lamp
But just the light.

Picture Tips

The hanging of pictures can add to the attractiveness of a room. Never place a picture against a background of highly decorative wallpaper; a neutral wall will show it up to its best advantage. Don't crowd a picture into a corner—if it's worth hanging it should be given a prominent spot. All pictures show up best if hung at eye level, and rather than use wires or cords suspended from the molding, use inconspicuous hooks attached to the back of the frame and inserted in the wall.

'Guest Day' Is Delightful at Washington Country Club On Thursday Afternoon

Outstanding in the Country Club calendar is the annual "Guest Day," which gives to club members the privilege of inviting guests. Thursday, was the 1942 guest day and the experienced and charming hostesses entertained sixty-six members and guests for an exceptionally delightful luncheon-bridge. Mrs. Sam Parrett, was chairman of the hostess group, and although she was unable to attend, she had made very pleasurable plans. Her assisting committee was Mrs. Charles McLean, Mrs. R. M. Hughey, Mrs. Ray Maynard, and Mrs. W. H. Limes.

The club lounge and dining room had been transformed into a picture of all color and beauty. Baskets and bowls held garden bouquets in artistic arrangement. The season's loveliest tulips, iris, spirea, and blooming shrubs were dominant.

The table arrangement of the large number of guests was most attractive. Adorning the center of each of the many tables were dainty watergardens of buttercups and lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. Devins, club hostess, served a particularly delightful luncheon. The convivial hour around the tables was followed by afternoon of progressive bridge, and hearts.

During the luncheon hour, five new members, Mrs. W. S. Paxson, Mrs. Elmer Junk, Mrs. Hazel DeWitt, Mrs. Charles Bryant and Mrs. Joseph F. Morton, were welcomed into the club.

High and low scores in the bridge game for the club members were presented to Miss Mary Barnes and Mrs. Leo Fedigan. For the guests, Mrs. Eber Coil was high and Mrs. Warren Schleich low. The prize in the hearts game was presented to Mrs. Ottilie Morrow.

who believe a merchant is pushing prices up.

Henderson repeatedly has asked people to concentrate on cooperation in the battle against high prices, to help their storekeepers to meet the law's demands, rather than to assume at once the role of self-appointed policemen.

Describing the long, hard job of preparing the price ceiling program, Henderson praised the cooperation of retailers and remarked: "The smallest amount of our time was given to methods of putting people in the house-gow."

Jail sentences and fines are clearly set out for violators of price and rationing orders, but Henderson realizes that if the drive against the high cost of living ceases to be a cooperative undertaking of all the people and becomes, like prohibition, a matter of the government against the people, it is foredoomed to failure.

Corps of buyers especially trained to catch the chiseling shopkeeper will keep a continuing check on the fairness of the merchant's prices. If violators are found, they will be smacked hard.

The stress will be on catching bootleggers of goods, rather than annoying honest merchants for technical violations.

The local boards serve on a voluntary basis. The success of the draft boards in attaining reputations for fairness gives officials hope that the standing of board members in their communities will keep their decisions fair and just.

Above the local board will be the full-time administrators of the price and rationing rules—in district offices, state offices, regional offices and finally in Washington.

Girl Who Rode Jumper Here Good Enough for Polo Team At OSU—But She's a Girl

Miss Jean R. Rittenour, who won the admiration and plaudits of the hundreds of spectators who have been watching the Horse Shows at the Fayette County Fair for the past four years where she exhibited her jumpers, today wishes she were a boy—almost.

For, this pretty and petite 19-year-old Ohio State University co-ed is one of the best pony polo players at the big school.

Horse Show fans here have not forgotten how Jean, perched atop her big brown "Possum Pie," swept the honors of the jumping classes year after year. She looked so small and the horse looked so big, that there always was a silence when she turned for the first jump—and always a sigh of relief when they cleared the last one. Everyone was nervous but Jean. She appeared almost a part of the horse in that unbeatable team.

Being a girl has its drawbacks for a horsewoman, the Picketon freshman says, especially if making the school polo squad has been a lifelong ambition.

She tried out for the freshman team this year and was selected among the first three, on the basis of ability, but the "for men only" rule pushed her to the sidelines.

"I almost wish I were a boy," she said, when told regulations barred girls from the team.

Miss Rittenour is the daughter of Everett F. Rittenour, a farmer.

At Ohio State, she is majoring in animal husbandry.

Former Blue Lion Grid Star And Coach Enlists in Navy

Charles (Fat) Campbell, who kept right on in the field of sports he had learned to love when he took off his blue and white uniform at the end of the WHS football season in 1924, has enlisted in the United States Navy.

But in the navy, Campbell will continue in the work for which he is best fitted—in the job he has made his career through long periods of training and a dozen years of experience as player and coach. He will serve as a leader and instructor in physical education.

Campbell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Campbell and brother of H. Condon Campbell, member of the city board of education, has received notification that his enlistment had been accepted, his brother said Friday morning.

The notice said that he had been commissioned a lieutenant junior grade for duty in the V-5 physical training program under the direction of Lt. Com. Tom Hamilton, for Navy football coach.

Campbell is to report to Annapolis on May 18 for preliminary training. Later he is to be assigned to one of four universities where many other former college and scholastic mentors are assisting in the conditioning of the Navy's flying recruits.

It was back in 1927, 1928 and 1929 that "Fat" Campbell was one of the mainstays of the Blue Lion football team; that his long punts were the talk of the South Central League. After his graduation here, he went to Ohio State University where he made the Freshmen team and drew the spotlight of college football with those long boots his fellow townsmen had learned to accept with only slight gasps of pride. He was kept out of football at State, his sophomore year, by injuries. In 1933 he entered Denison University and sparkled on the gridiron under the tutelage of another former Blue Lion star, Tommy Rodgers, now Denison's head coach.

Graduating from Denison in 1934, he was "seasoned" in the coaching profession as a member of the freshmen staff at Denison. From there he went to Newcomerstown for a year to coach the high school team there and then went to Van Wert where he had phenomenal success for the next five years. From Van Wert he went to Shaw High School, one of the biggest in Cleveland, with the best wishes of the hundreds of football fans in Van Wert who had become to consider him one of the best in the coaching business. He guided the Shaw gridders to a co-championship of the Lake Erie League in his first season last fall.

Now he is saying farewell to his new-found friends there as he packs up and gets ready to go into the navy.

Campbell was here visiting his family over the weekend and while he did not mention his service hopes then to friends, his brother said he discussed the possibilities of the future with him. Mrs. Campbell will probably return to her former home in Van Wert when her husband goes into training, he said.

Golf Tournament May Not Be Held; Interest Lacking

PHILADELPHIA, May 8—(AP)—The Hale America Open Golf Tournament—arranged to replace the National Open—may be abandoned because of lack of interest.

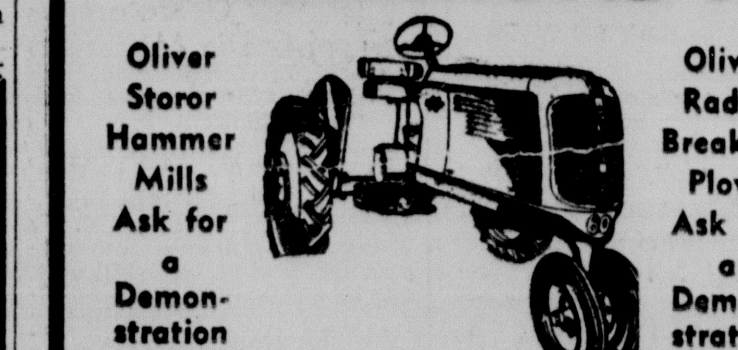

Big Ed Dudley, president of the Professional Golfers Association, disclosed today only 1,163 players have entered the tourney scheduled to be held at Chicago the week of June 8.

"This is the biggest all-out victory tourney outside of our PGA competition at Seaview, N. J., later this month—that has yet been arranged for the benefit of the army-navy relief fund," Dudley declared. "There should be at least 5,500 entries instead of only 1,163."

"Talked with Joe Day, executive secretary of the U. S. Golf Association, and I know he is concerned about it. There seems to be only one thing to do, if we don't get the proper response, it looks like the tourney will have to be cancelled."

Dodgers and Giants Cross Bats in Own War for War Relief

By JUDSON BAILEY
(By The Associated Press)
Baseball will go to bat for war relief today with the first of 16 regularly scheduled Major League games from which army and navy assistance funds will get all proceeds.

Appropriately this affair will be staged by the Brooklyn Dodgers, whose president, L. S. (Larry) MacPhail first campaigned for such a program, and will be unique in that it will be a twilight game and that all persons who enter Ebbets field, including the players and umpires, will buy tickets.

Even the peanut and hotdog vendors must buy tickets. Ducats for soldiers and sailors will be bought by various organizations.

Brooklyn's foe for this dramatic encounter, starting at 4:45 P. M. (EWT) will be the New York Giants. Later the same teams will play a companion piece at the Polo Grounds. The series was planned by MacPhail and President Horace Stoneham of the Giants last month and became the basis for the program evolved by commissioner Kenehan M. Landis for all other Major League clubs.

The present installment in the National League's hottest rivalry comes during a sort of intermission in the interseasonal skirmishing of both leagues.

The first siege between the Eastern and Western Clubs came to an end yesterday with in-clement weather erasing all games except a doubleheader between the Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates. After some intramural battling during the week-end, the Eastern Club of the American League will move into the west next week and the Western Clubs of the senior circuit will attempt a raid on the east.

In the only action yesterday the Pirates captured a 2-1 eleven inning decision in the first half of the bargain bill at Pittsburgh and the Giants came back to bag the nightcap, 6-2.

A checkup on the first interseasonal strife shows that the eastern clubs in the American League won 22 and lost only 16 while in the National League the western clubs earned a 19 to 17 advantage.

The best record in either league during this time was made by the Boston Red Sox who won seven out of nine. The worst mark, of course, belongs to the Chicago White Sox, who dropped nine out of ten.

No. 57 Is Jinx For Boxer Lulu

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—Like Joe DiMaggio and Ben Hogan, boxer Lulu Constantino stubbed his toe on No. 57.

Winner of 56 straight fights as a professional, Constantino reached the end of his string of victories last night when he was outpointed by Chalky Wright of Los Angeles, recognized in New York State as world featherweight champion, in an eight-round non-title scrap.

DiMaggio, in compiling his record batting streak last season, hit safely in 56 consecutive games but missed in the 57th. Hogan finished in the money in 56 straight golf tournaments before his streak also ended in the 57th tourney last fall.

ABC Scores Good But Won't Reach

COLUMBUS, May 8—(AP)—Harry Price of Portsmouth, hit 681 on games of 255, 208 and 218 to grab the limelight in the singles division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament yesterday.

A pair of Highland, Ill., keggers, Gerhard Marti and Gerhard Werner, bagged the day's high doubles count with 1206. Detroit's Royal Recreations paced the teams with 2838.

All scores were far below those of the tournament leaders. Johnny Crimmins of Detroit, winner of the national match game elimination meet at Chicago last December, takes over tonight with his Paris Cleaners quintet.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, May 8—(P)—Early fractional gains that carried wheat to highs for the past month and corn to best figures in about two weeks were erased today as the grain market turned reactionary due to increased profit taking.

Reports from the naval battle in the Pacific and indications that agricultural interests oppose any attempts to limit farm prices o a greater extent than provided by present law prompted some early buying. However, flour demand continued to lag and some traders thought shipping business in corn would be curtailed as a result of the embargo on lake movement except with permit after May 15.

Wheat closed 1-4 3-4 cent lower than yesterday, May $1.22 1-8, July $1.25 1/4; corn unchanged to 1/2 down, May 86 3-4, July 89 1/2 5-8; oats 5-8 1/2 down; soybeans 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher; rye 3/4 5-8 lower.

Advisory Board To Aid February 16 Registrants

QUESTIONNAIRES WILL BE READY IN A FEW DAYS

Each Registrant To Fill Out Two Forms Within 10 Days Time

All Fayette County men who registered for military service on February 16 must soon fill out a regular questionnaire, which will be mailed to them within the next few days, and at the same time fill out an occupational questionnaire which will be awaiting them at one of the several points in the county where members of the Fayette County Advisory Board and assistants will be on duty at specified hours each day, to assist in filling out their questionnaires.

In this connection the Advisory Board, of which Norman L. McLean is the chairman, is asking for the aid of 18 competent women in Washington C. H. to assist as volunteers, and devote two to three hours each week to the work. They are requested to call W. L. O'Brien, of the Midland Grocery Company, and leave their names, and are to be ready for work next week.

The work of assisting registrants in filling out their questionnaires will probably start Monday, and the regular questionnaires will reach the registrants within the next few days. Members of the Advisory Board will be stationed at the various places, listed herewith, where both questionnaires are to be filled out, during the hours designated, and only during the hours mentioned.

No questionnaires will be filled out at the Selective Service Board Headquarters over Liscandro's store, and all who registered must have their questionnaires filled out and in the hands of the Fayette County Advisory Board, within 10 days after the date of mailing.

Volunteers who assist in filling out the questionnaires will work only one day each week, it is indicated.

Only registrants of February 16 are included in the group which must fill out the questionnaires.

The duties of the Advisory Board is to assist registrants generally, and the board has been called upon to do a great deal of this kind of work, all gratis, and no charge is made to registrants for assistance rendered.

Likewise no notary public is allowed to charge a fee for notarizing papers of registrants. It is pointed out by the Selective Service Board that it is the duty of all registrants to comply promptly with everything asked of them.

The places for filling out questionnaires, starting Monday and continuing each day except Sundays, as well as those already listed as volunteer assistants or associate members of the advisory board, follows:

Washington C. H.—Memorial Hall, 1 P. M. to 9:30 P. M.
Carey Phillips, S. E. Cox, Fred Carlson, Oran W. Ellis, Leonard Korn, Bud Andrews, Walter Hutton, Herb Wilson, Ray Rumer, Dick McLean, Frank Beck, Roy Carr, Dutch Craig, Horace Ireland, Frank Thornton, Bob Terhune, Walter Patton, Paul Strevey, Dr. Ford, Gene McClain, Chester Dunn, Frank Brown and Bill Allen.

DR. J. M. HARSHA ENLISTS IN U. S. MEDICAL CORPS

Passes Examination and Is Commissioned Captain In U. S. Service

Dr. James M. Harsha, one of the city's well known physicians for many years, and former coroner of Fayette County for several terms, has enlisted in the U. S. Medical Corps and has been commissioned a captain. He will report soon for duty at Atlanta, Ga.

Captain Harsha is a veteran of World War No. 1, having seen service with the 324th Heavy Field Artillery in France.

He enlisted September 4, 1917, at Columbus, and soon became a sergeant while stationed at Camp Sherman.

He was commissioned a lieutenant in the Field Artillery June 1, 1918, and saw service with his outfit in France, being honorably discharged at Camp Sherman May 26, 1919.

Just 24 years later, to the day, he will again enter active service in the U. S. armed forces, this time as a captain in the Medical Corps.

Captain Harsha expects to leave in about three weeks.

He was in Columbus Thursday for physical examination, and after passing was immediately commissioned a captain.

He is to report for duty at Headquarters of the Fourth Corps Area, Atlanta, Ga., for services in that area.

Captain Harsha is married, has two children, and during the many years engaged in the medical profession here has established a widespread practice.

He is the second Washington C. H. physician to enter the U. S. Medical Corps in the present war, Dr. James E. Thompson being the first. Others may enter the service in the near future.

Rural Life Sunday To Be Observed At Good Hope in Countywide Service

Rural Life Sunday will be observed next Sunday at Good Hope, (either in the Baptist or the Methodist Church) by the rural churches, the farm organizations, the rural youth groups and other farm groups of Fayette County cooperating.

The program will be in the afternoon at 2:30 E. W. T., in order not to interfere with the regular morning services in the churches.

Rural life Sunday has its roots in the Rogation Days, days set apart by the early Christian church for the purpose of offering special prayers to God for His blessing on the fruits of the soil. It was adopted in 1929, not only as a day of prayer on the church calendar, but also to bring to the attention of the public the importance of the rural community and rural life to the maintenance of religion in the world social order.

"The city church is under a great debt to the country church. National security, prosperity and perpetuity are all linked into the continuance of the welfare of the man on the land. History has taught this in every era."

Malcolm Dana says that 70 percent of those who join the city churches by letter come from small town and country churches.

"What would become of the city church if it were not for this constant inpouring of new members, members who have been given a warmth of religious experience as well as a conviction that follows them into the teeming life of the city?" he asks and continues:

"The lay leadership of the city church found its start and real strength of life in some village or country church. When we turn to pulp leadership, we find that 12 percent of the city ministers spent their formative years in cities of over 100,000 population, while 48 percent were raised in rural communities. Truly the city owes a great debt to the country church."

Hope was expressed by leaders here that this service will be largely attended, not only by farm folks, but by others who are interested in the religious life of the whole county.

The principal speaker will be Dr. W. H. Thompson, rural life secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, who will bring a worth while message. In addition to the congregational singing, two numbers will be rendered by the always popular Grange Quartette.

The program will be preceded by a basket dinner in Wayne Hall at 1 P. M. Each family is to bring its own table service including cups and sugar for coffee. The coffee will be furnished by the members of the Good Hope churches and Good Hope Grange.

The general committee in charge of program and all arrangements is: Rev. A. H. Beckett, Rev. F. M. Moon, Rev. Chas. J. Bowen and Rev. C. S. Thompson representing the rural churches; W. W. Montgomery, representing 4H clubs; A. F. Ervin, representing Farm Bureau Councils and Ralph Nisley, the Granges.
